

Building a New Economy for Wales

18th October 2017, Cardiff City Stadium

Agenda

10.30am Setting the Scene: A New Local Economy for Wales

Chris Johnes (BCT) and Neil McInroy (CLES) will introduce the day and set the context.

11-11.15am New Local Economies: Community Wealth Building

Ted Howard of Democracy Collaborative will outline work his work in the USA, showing how there is a growing global movement for change, and how Wales must accelerate community wealth building.

11.15-11.45am The Challenge and the Hope

Sarah Lloyd Jones, People and Work
Ben Cottam, Federation of Small Businesses
Tim Peppin, WLGA

11.45am-12pm Q&A session/discussion

12pm-12.50pm Workshops (repeated during the afternoon session).

- Developing Community Wealth

Chair: Neil McInroy, CLES

Speakers: Sel Williams & Ceri Cunnington, Cwmni Bro Ffestiniog;

Cllr Matthew Brown, Preston Council

Community Wealth Building (CWB) sits at the core of a powerful new wave of progressive economics and local economic action. This workshop will introduce CWB, then look at how a range of new innovations in local economy can build a better economy for all.

- Supporting Resilient Localities

Chair: Sarah Stone, Samaritans

Speakers: Bryn Jones, Penparcau Forum; Dave Horton, Action on Caerau and Ely

Local community organisations provide a focus for community building. Through two case studies, this session will show how the range of activities contributes to resilience, makes services more accessible and brings people together.

- Anchor Institutions

Chair: Matthew Jackson, CLES

Speaker: Jonathan Morris, Tai Tarian

In many of our locations, large organisations such as hospitals, local authorities and housing providers play a key role as employers, purchasers of goods and services, land and property holders and investors. Hear about how the collective power of these 'anchors' can be utilised to bring about much social and economic benefit.

Workshops (cont)

- Foundational Economy

Chair: Chris Johnes, BCT

Speakers: Ian Thomas, Welcome to Our Woods; Dafydd Meurig, Partneriaeth Ogwen

In many of the poorest areas, the market is failing, with economies that have been hollowed out, by successive waves of de-industrialisation, lack of investment in the real economy, and recession. We must advance more local ownership of the foundational goods and services which are needed for a civilised life. This workshop explains how.

- Local Business

Chair: Joshua Miles, Federation of Small Businesses (FSB)

Speakers: Ceri and Aled Roberts, Delwedd; Neil Blockely, Little Inspirations

This workshop will look at the role of local businesses in building stronger local economies: the economic benefits that locally owned businesses can bring, how they can be supported to employ local people and how they can work with other institutions to maximise local benefit.

- Social Care

Chair: Jenny O'Hara Jakeway, Credu

Speaker: Lyndsey Campbell-Williams, Medrwn Mon

This workshop will explore how locally-provided social care provides both economic opportunities and works to hold communities together. It will explore the vital role that businesses, public bodies and community organisations all play in providing different types of social care.

- Turnaround Towns.

Chair: Anna Nicholl (AM Session) and Peter Davies (PM Session), WCVA

Speaker: Gina Wilson, Carnegie Trust

This workshop will consider new emerging comprehensive approaches to making towns more self-resilient. With international case studies it will show what strategically is being done and how policy context needs to flex to allow our towns to be resilient and flourish.

12.50pm-1.40pm

Lunch

1.40-2.30pm

Workshops

Repeat of above sessions.

2.30-3pm

Movement for Change

The final session will look at the next steps for developing a movement for change, featuring speakers who are playing key roles in shaping this agenda.

3pm

Refreshments and networking
